

Matthew Graham

Matthew Graham, Longitudinal Employer-Household Dynamics (LEHD), U.S. Census Bureau, has been a geographer with the LEHD Program in the Center for Economic Studies at the U.S. Census Bureau for almost ten years and currently is the project manager for the OnTheMap application, a winner in 2010 of U.S. Department of Commerce's Gold Medal for Scientific/Engineering Achievement. He received his Master's degree in Urban Planning from UCLA and holds degrees in Physics and Mechanical Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He also taught physics in the East African country of Tanzania as a Peace Corps Volunteer.